Since instituting this three-year middle school series, the school has nearly eliminated bullying and behavioral issues and significantly boosted standardized test scores. 'What has been a small investment has paid off tenfold,' says Shaheer Faltas, the Journey School principal who instituted the program.

At the heart of every Cyber Civics lesson is a hands-on inquiry-based investigation that trains students to become tomorrow's digital leaders. As students move through each level they negotiate and create the social norms that will guide their future online practices.

Cyber Civics lays a strong foundation for healthy digital ethics, information and computer literacy so when children face inevitable, difficult choices online, they will make the right decisions.
